

ELECTRIC FENCING BASICS WORKSHOP

It's easier than you think!

Electric Fencing for Your Garden & Livestock

Wednesday, July 21

6:30 PM @ MUD

Instructors: James Jonkel (MT Fish, Wildlife & Parks), Scott Mackay (Cenex)
& Erin Edge (Defenders of Wildlife)

Do you race the deer to harvest your lettuce, or worry about bears in your fruit trees or chicken coop? This workshop is exactly what you need to protect your veggies and live responsibly with the local wildlife.

This hands-on 1.5-hour workshop will teach you the basics for keeping deer and elk out of gardens and how to safely contain goats, sheep, fowl and apiaries within different styles of predator-resistant electric fence.

$10 MUD members/$20 non-members

Scholarships are available. Contact MUD office minimum of 1 week prior to workshop for scholarship information.

This workshop is part of the YOUR GARDEN Backyard Sustainability workshop series. Register in advance, or find out about more workshops in this series by contacting the MUD office or register online at www.mudproject.org.

721-7513 ° info@mudproject.org ° www.mudproject.org